Beware of Christians

Alex, Matt, Michael and Will have grown up as Bible believing Christians who did all the right things. As they have grown older, they have realized that the Jesus in the Bible does not look like the healthy, wealthy, American Jesus they have been trained to know and love. So, they decide to leave their homes in the US for a while and reexamine what Jesus says about certain issues that face young people. They travel through 10 European cities narrating their stories and addressing key concerns such as materialism, sexuality, alcohol and entertainment. As the journey progresses they, build a deep bond and discover a new meaning for the words "Trusting in Jesus". They truly begin to understand the joy and redemption that comes with giving up the world to follow Jesus.
